WHEN THE LEAVES ARE TURNING BROWN.

BY MRS. ELIZABETH AKERS.

Never is my heart so gay
In the budding month of May,
Never does it beat a tune
Half so sweet in blooming June,
Never knows such happiness
As on such a day as this.
When October dons her crown,
And the leaves are turning brown,

Breathe, sweet children, soft regrets
For the vanished violets;
Sing you lovers, the delights
Of the golden Summer nights;
Never in the Summer hours
On my way such radiance showers
As from heaven falls softly down,
When the leaves are turning brown!

Braid your girdles, fresh and gay,
Children in the bloom of May;
Twist your chaplets in young June,
Maidens—they will fade full soon;
Twine ripe roses, July—red,
Lovers, for the dear one's head;
I will weave my richer crown
When the leaves are turning brown!

THE PEDLER'S STORY.

A cold winter's night, several years since, found a stage-load of passengers gathered together around the warm fire of a tavern bar-room in a New England village. Shortly after we arrived, a pedler drove up and ordered that his horse should be stabled for the night.

After we had eaten supper, we repaired to the bar-room, where the conversation flowed freely. Several anecdotes had been related, and finally the pedlar was asked to give us a story, as much of his profession were generally full of adventures and anecdotes. He was a short, thick set man, somewhere about forty years of age and gave evidence of great physical strength. He gave his name as Lemuel Vinney, and his home was in Dover, New Hampshire.

"Well, gentlemen," he commenced, knocking the ashes from his pipe and putting it in his pocket, "suppose I tell you about the last things of any consequence that happened to me. You see I am now right from the West, and on my way home for winter quarters. It was during the early part of last spring, one pleasant evening, that I pulled up at the door of a small village tavern in Hancock County, Indiana. I said it was pleasant—I meant warm. I went in and called for supper, and had my horse taken care of. After I had eaten, I sat down in the bar-room. It began to rain about eight o'clock, and it was very dark out doors. Now I wanted to be in Jackson the next morning, for I expected a load of goods there for me which I intended to dispose of on my way home.

"The moon would rise about midnight, and I knew if it did not rain I could get along through the mud very well after that. So I asked the landlord if he would see that my horse was fed about midnight, as I wished to be off at about two. He expressed some surprise, and asked me why I did not stop for breakfast. I told him that I had sold my last load about out and that a new lot of goods was waiting for me at Jackson, and I wanted there before the express agent left in the morning.

"There were a number of persons sitting round while I told this, but I took little notice of them; only one arrested my attention. I had seen then that week notices for the detection of a notorious robber. The bills gave a description of his person, and the man before me answered very well to it. He was a tall, well-formed man, rather slight in frame and had the appearance of a gentleman, save that his face bore those hard, cruel marks which an observing man cannot mistake for anything but the index of a villainous disposition.

"When I went to my chamber, I asked the landlord who that man was, describing the individual. He said he did not know him. He had come that afternoon and intended to leave the next day. The host asked me why I wished to know, and I simply told him that the man's countenance was familiar, and I merely wished to know if I was ever acquainted.

"I was resolved not to let the landlord into the secret, but to give information to the sheriff, and perhaps he might reach the inn before the villian left: for I had doubts with regard to his identity.

"I had an alarm watch, and having set it to give the alarm at one o'clock, I went to sleep. I was aroused at the proper time and immediately rose and dressed myself. When I reached the yard I found the clouds all passed away and the moon was shining brightly. The hostler was easily aroused and by two o'clock I was on the road. The mud was deep, and my horse could not travel very fast. However, on we went, and in the course of half an hour I was clear of the village. At a short distance ahead lay a large tract of forest, mostly of great pine. The road lay directly through this wood, and as near as I can remember, the distance was twelve miles. Yet the moon was in the east and the road ran nearly west, so I thought I should have light enough.

"I had entered this wood, and gone about half a mile when my wagon wheels settled with a jump and jerk into a deep hole. I uttered an exclamation of astonishment, but that was not all. I heard another exclamation from the same source. What could it be? I looked quietly around but could see nothing, yet I knew the sound that I heard was very close to me. As the hind wheels came up I felt something besides the jerk from the hole. I heard something tumble from one side to the other of my wagon, and I could also feel the jar occasioned by the movement. It was simply a man in my cart! I knew this on the instant. Of course I felt puzzled. At first I imagined that somebody had taken this method to obtain a ride. My next idea was that somebody had got in to sleep there; but this passed away as soon as it came, for no man would have broken into my cart for that purpose. And that thought, gentlemen, opened my eyes. Who ever was there had broken in. My next thought was of the suspicious individual I had seen at the tavern. He heard me say that my load was all sold out, and of course he supposed I had money with me. In this he was right, for I had over two thousand dollars. I thought he meant to leave the cart when he supposed I had reached a safe place, and then creep over and shoot me or knock me down. All this passed through my mind by the time I had got a rod from the hole.

"In a few moments my horse was knee deep in the mud, and I knew I could slip off without noise. So I drew my pistol, and having twined the reins about the whip-stock, carefully slipped down in the mud, and as the cart passed on I went behind and examined the hasp. The door of the cart lets down and is fastened by a hasp, which slips over the staple and is then secured by a padlock. The padlock was gone, and the hasp was secured in its own place by a bit of pine, so that a slight force from within could break it. My wheel wrench stood in a leathern bucket on the side of the cart, and I quickly took it out and slipped it into the staple, the iron handle just sliding down.

"Now I had him. My cart was almost new, made of a stout frame of white oak, and made on purpose for hard usage. I did not believe any ordinary mortal could break out. I got on to my cart as noiselessly as I got off, and then urged my horse on, still keeping my pistol handy. I knew that at the distance of half a mile further I should come to a hard road, and so I allowed my horse to pick his own way through the mud.

"About ten minutes after this, I heard a motion in the cart, followed by a grinding noise, as though some heavy force was being applied to the door, I said nothing, but the idea struck me that the villain might judge where I sat, and shoot up through the top of the cart at me; so I sat down on the footboard.

"Of course I knew that my unexpected passenger was a villain, for he must have been awake ever since I started, and nothing in the world but absolute villainy would have caused him to remain quiet long, and then start up in this particular place. The thumping and pushing grew louder, and pretty soon I heard a human voice.

"Let me out of this!' and yelled pretty loud.

"I lifted my head so as to make him think I was in my usual place, and then asked him what he was doing there.

"Let me get out and I will tell you,' he replied.

"Tell me what you are in there for.'

"I got in here to sleep on the rags,' he answered.

"How did you get in?' I asked.

"Let me out or I'll shoot you through the head!

"Just at that moment my horses feet struck the hard road, and I knew that the rest of the road to Jackson would be good going the distance twelve miles. I slipped back on the footboard and took the whip. In fifteen minutes, we cleared the wood, and away we went at a keen jump. The chap inside kept yelling to be let out.

"Finally he stopped, and in a few moments came the report of a pistol—one—two—three—four, one right after the other, I heard the balls whiz over my head. If I had been on my seat, one of these balls if not two would have gone through me. I popped up my head again and gave a yell, and then I said,—

"'O, God, save me!—I'm a dead man!'

"Then I made a shuffling noise, as though I was falling off, and finally settled down on the footboard again. I now urged up the old mare by giving her an occasional poke with my whip-stock, and she peeled it faster than ever.

"The man called out to me twice more pretty soon after this, and as he got no reply he made some tremendous efforts to break the door open, and as this failed him he made several attempts on the top. But I had no fear of his doing anything there, for the top of the cart was framed with dovetails, and each sleeper bolted to the posts with iron bolts. I had it made so I could carry loads there. By and by, after all else had failed, the scamp commenced to holler "Whoa!" to the horse, and kept it up until he became hoarse. All this time I kept perfectly quiet, holding the reins firmly, and kept poking the beast with the stock. We were not an hour going that dozen miles—not a bit of it. I hadn't much fear; perhaps I might tell the truth and say I had none, for I had a good pistol, and more than that my passenger was safe, yet I was glad when I came to the old flour barrel factory that stands at the edge of Jackson village, and in ten minutes more hauled up in front of the tavern, and found a couple of men in the barn cleaning down some stage horses.

"Well, old fellow, said I, as I got down and went to the back of the wagon, "you have had a good ride, haven't you?"

"Who are you?" he cried, and he swore as he asked the question.

"I am the man you tried to shoot," was the reply.

"Where am I? Let me out."

"Look here, we've came to a safe stopping place, and, mind you, my pistol is ready for you the moment you show yourself. Now lay quiet."

"By this time the two hostlers had come to see what was the matter, and I explained the case. After this I got one of them to run and rout the sheriff, and tell him what I believed I'd got for him. The first streaks of daylight were just coming up, and in half an hour it would be broad daylight. In less than that time the sheriff came and two men with him. I told him the whole affair in a few words, and then made for the cart. He told the chap inside who he was, and if he made the least resistance he'd be a dead man. I then slipped the wrench out, and as I let the door down the fellow made a spring. I caught him by the leg, and he came down on his face, and the moment I saw the chap I recognized him. He was marched to the lock-up, and I told the sheriff I should remain in town all day.

"After breakfast the sheriff came down to the tavern and told me that I had caught the very bird, and that if I would remain until the next morning I should have the reward of two hundred dollars which had been offered.

"I found my goods all safe, paid the express agent for bringing them from Indianapolis, and then went to work to stow them away in my cart. The bullet holes were found in the top of the vehicle just as I expected. They were in a line, about five inches apart, and had I been where I usually sit, two of them must have hit me somewhere about the small of the back and passed upward, for they were sent with heavy charges of powder, and his pistols were heavy ones.

On the next morning the sheriff called upon me and paid two hundred dollars in gold, for he had made himself sure that he had got the right villain.

I afterwards found a letter in the post office at Portsmouth for me, from the sheriff of Hancock county, informing me that the fellow who had tried to kill and rob me, was in prison for life.

THE WRITING ON THE ROCK.—Ages upon ages ago the tide was out, and the muddy beach lay smooth as this sheet of paper before me. A cloud passed over the sky, and a shower of big rain or hail came down, and pitted the mud as thick as leaves on the trees. A strong wind drove the drops, so that the impressions were a little one-sided. They had written their short history as plain as my pen can write; and even the direction from which the wind blew was recorded. Some great frogs and lizards which used to live there, came hopping over the mud and left their tracks also deeply printed on the shore. By and by the great waves came softly stealing up, and covered the whole surface with fine sand, and so the tracks were seen no more for ages upon ages. The clay hardened into solid rock, and so did the sand; and after these thousands of years had passed away, some masons came upon the curious inscription. Men of science, who are skilled in reading these stony leaves of God's great book, read, as plainly as if they had been present, the story of that passing shower. It had been written on the softest clay but it was read on solid rock. So your hearts to day are like the soft clay. Everything stamps them, but the stamps are not so easy to remove. They will be there when you are grown up to be a man or woman. O, what deep, dark prints the bad words of evil associates make? But how lovely it will be to recall the record which kind and loving actions make upon the soul!

CONCEIT.—Hardly anything is more contemptible than that conceit which rests merely upon social position, the conceit of those who imagine that they are thus divorced from the clay of common men, of those who shrink with horror from the idea of work, as something which degrades by its very contact, and yet who, very likely, owe their present position to some not remote ancestor, who, recognizing his call to work, lived more honestly in the world than they do, and was not ashamed of soiled thumbs. It is one of the meanest things for people to be ashamed of the work from which they draw their income, and which glorified their ancestors more with their soiled aprons and black gowns than themselves with their fine ribbons and flashing jewelry. It might be a fine thing to be like the lilies, more gloriously clothed than Solomon, and doing nothing, if we were only lilies. Advantageous position is only a more emphatic call to work; and while those who hold the advantage may not be compelled to manual drudgery, they should recognize the fact that manual drudgery may be performed in the same spirit as that which characterizes their own work, and therefore it is equally honorable.

DEPENDENCY.—The race of mankind would perish, did they cease to aid each other. From the time the mother binds the child's head, till the moment that some kind assistant wipes the death damp from the brow of the dying, we cannot exist without mutual help. All, therefore, that need aid, have a right to ask it of their fellow mortals. No one who has the power of granting it can refuse it without guilt.

☞If you would add a lustre to all your accomplishments, study a modest behavior. To excel in anything valuable is great; but to be above conceit on account of one's accomplishments is greater.

☞If we do not exercise our faculties they will become impaired.

The Mosquito.

A writer in the Scientific American tells how the mosquito looks, what he does for a living, and how he was produced. It is an interesting sketch, but by no means a compensation for a mosquito bite, or the "small horror of his bugle horn." The writer says:—

It is unscientific to say that mosquitos bite, for they have no teeth; and they have no need of teeth to seize upon or prepare their food, for they are dainty, and take food only in the liquid form—spoon victuals. They are a chivalric race, and attack their enemies with a sort of sword or lance; no doubt they consider biting and gouging quite vulgar. The lance of the mosquito is a very beautiful and perfect piece of work; it is smoother than burnished steel, and its point so fine and perfect that the most powerful microscope does not discover a flaw in it. As the most delicate cambric needle is to the crowbar, so is the mosquito's lance to the best Damascus blade. The lance is worn in a scabbard or sheath, which in every respect is worthy of it; it is often ornamented with plumes. Man carries his sword at his side, and the mosquito on his head.—The latter arrangement has manifest and wonderful advantages—the weapon is always en garde, and does not impede locomotion by getting entangled with the legs.

The lance and its sheath being on the head and being somewhat flexible, is often called a probocis. This view of the case is strengthened by the fact that the scabbard is a suction pipe through which the mosquito drinks its food. As Moses struck the rock with his staff, so the mosquito with a thrust of his lance pierces the fountain, and the nectar, gushing into the scabbard, finds its way to the more sensitive and vital parts. But is not this calling the lance and scabbard, a probocis, thus likening the delicate mosquito to the monstrous elephant, a little far fetched?

The mosquito is the most musical of all animals. There is no bird which sings so much. He never tires of his simple song How happy must he be, cheerily singing far into the night!—What a volume of melody from so slight a creature! If a man had a voice so loud proportionate to his weight, he might hold a conversation across the Atlantic, and there would be no need of the telegraph. Linnæus, out of compliment to the musical powers of the mosquito, named it Culex Pipiens. But there are these who say that the mosquito has no vocal organs, and that his notes are not music, but the sound produced by the flapping of his wings, or by some other similar and purely mechanical movement.—Have these detractors music in their souls?

The mosquito might be classed among our domestic animals, may we not say among the household pets?—They are the almost constant companions of man in town and country during the holiday season of the summer. No home without the mosquito. What affection! How they stick to us closer than brothers! They often come a great way—hundreds of miles—to be with us. Most of them which greet us in this city have left their distant homes in Jersey and have made the perilous journey across a wide river.—They also love their own society, and travel in companies which sometimes comprise millions of individuals—in swarms which obscure the sun. But the common place detractors say that mosquitoes are bred in unwholesome swamps, and that it is only the wind which bears them, as it does feathers and malaria, wherever it listeth.

Let us inquire about the earliest beginning of the mosquito; let us take him in the egg. The mother mosquito has notions of naval architecture, and out of the eggs she lays she constructs a well modeled boat, with elevated prow and stern and well proportioned midship. For the boat she employs two hundred and fifty to three hundred and fifty eggs, building it up piecemeal, somewhat after the manner of men, binding together the individual eggs by means of a powerful water-proof cement into substantial and complete structure. Unfortunately we are unable to give a receipt for the water-proof cement; there are many who would like to have it. The boat is built on the water, and when completed she is confidently abandoned to the mercy of the wind and the wave. Thanks to that water-proof cement, she can neither be broken, wetted, nor sunk; she is safer than if she were copper-bottomed. The little craft, it must be remembered, is freighted with life—each of its 250 or 350 little state rooms has its tenant. After a few days' cruising the occupants of the shells come forth, and the ship is destroyed. But those little creatures are surely not mosquitoes; they appear more like fish or serpents, or little dragons. On closer examination they prove to be what every one knows under the name of "wigglers;" they are the larvæ of the mosquito. They wiggle about in the well known way for a week or two, and after changing their skins two or three times, they assume quite a new form and movement.—They are now what the boys call "tumbles," and are the pupae of the mosquito. In about a week, if the weather, &c., be favorable, something of the form of the mosquito may be seen through the transparent skin of the tumbler. Shortly the prisoner escapes from his confinement as a full fledged and bold mosquito, and soars away in search of food and pleasure.

So far this year, 547,700 tons more of anthracite coal have been sent to market from Pennsylvania than during the corresponding period last year.

A terribly destructive drought prevails in Ohio, Kentucky, and Indiana. There will not be more than half the usual corn crop. The grass is killed out entirely, and many forest trees are dying. The weather for the last week was the hottest of the season.

A young man named Regan died in Albany, recently, from having a mole or wart, on his face, cut by a razor while being shaved. The wart was on the left cheek, and, while the whole right side was paralyzed, the left leg and arm became rigid, and the face turned over the left shoulder.

Mrs. Otis, a native of Manchester, Ohio, has invented and patented a knitting machine said to be the most perfect and wonderful yet brought before the public. It will knit fifty pairs of stockings in a day, and is so simple that a child can work it. It can be furnished at half the cost of a first class sewing machine.

Broad street, Philadelphia, is eleven miles and a half long, in one straight line, and one hundred and fifteen feet wide, extending from League Island, on the Delaware river, to the northern boundary of the present city limits. At its present rate of improvement, it will require only a few years to make it the most magnificent thoroughfare in the world.

A tannery has been put in operation at Rockford, Illinois, in which the new patented process for exhausting the air from the vat, is employed. It takes by this process only twelve hours to complete the tanning, and about fifteen minutes for sheepskin. The weight of leather is increased ten per cent. over the old process, and the cost of the works is but ten per cent. more than the old, and it is also claimed that the leather is superior.

By a late patent, a species of nettle, which grows luxuriantly and spontaneously throughout the Mississippi valley, is employed in the manufacture of cord, rope, cloth, bagging and paper. The stalks, which grow from four to eight feet high, are gathered in the winter, and are ready for the brake without any rotting process. The fibre is said to be exceedingly fine, strong, and susceptible of a high finish by dressing.

A correspondent writes to the Iowa Agricultural Report, as a proof that bee keeping pays well, I would state that I am now offered for my bees $1,500 cash. It is not yet six years since I paid $20 for the four stands, with which I commenced. I have never bought a hive since. So this is the increase of my capital in five seasons, saying nothing of the bees, honey and wax sold in the meantime, or the pleasure derived from the business. We presume he had Langstroth's Bee-hives in use.

Already, the forest trees are beginning to don a dark and more sombre dress, betokening that the "melancholy days, the saddest of the year," are fast approaching, and as the days rapidly pass away, and the leaves fade and die under the chilling influence of the cold, wintry winds and frosts, we should bear in mind that we, too, are passing away like the falling leaves, and that while we are privileged to stay, should endeavor to do all we can towards aiding the right and in opposition to the wrong.

There is a man in New York who has a chicken stall at one of the markets. He is now reported to be worth $2,000,000. He lives in a large brownstone palace, on Brooklyn Heights, the furniture for which cost $120,000. He attends to the sale of his own chickens, never taking his breakfast at home, but coming over to the market, in this city, every morning, between four and five o'clock. He can be seen every day, standing behind a marble counter, with a white apron on. In the afternoon he drives out, with his wife and family, or a few friends, in an elegant carriage.

Dr. Crosby, of New Haven, is a genius. He invented the celebrated pin machine which is now turning out millions of these little inconveniences. He is now perfecting a needle machine which turns out a perfect needle, sharp point and drilled eye, without touch of human hand save in the tempering. The American Fish-hook Company of New Haven, of which he is President, uses an invention of his which drops a hundred perfect fish hooks per minute into a pail at one end from a coil of wire at the other.

An interesting sight at the International Exhibition at Paris was that large octagon "Kiosque," for Bible distribution, near the principal entrance. Its design is to supply the vast numbers of people who daily gather at the Exhibition with the word of God in their different languages. Nearly one million Gospels and Scripture portions have been issued. Since the opening of the Exhibition there have been days in which no less than three thousand are distributed, in fifteen different tongues, and, as a general rule, they are received with thankfulness by the respective nations. The work is particularly among the Jews, Arabs, Spaniards, Italians, Russians and French.

HUNTINGDON, PA.

WM. LEWIS, HUGH LINDSAY, } EDITORS.

LATE.—We are late issuing the Globe this week. All hands looked on while the crowd was in town last week, and consequently we got behind with the work.

THE ELECTION.

THE REACTION.

The result in the State show a heavy loss of Radical Republican strength. It is no more than we expected. We predicted it a year ago. The people were not prepared to endorse negro political equality or extravagance. The returns from the State come in slowly, but what have come in show that the Republican majority will be very small,—perhaps no majority at all.

A Republican loss of 7000 majority in Philadelphia, and 1000 in Allegheny are heavy losses. There are Republican losses in every county heard from.

OHIO.—The report from Ohio this morning gives very large anti-radical gains.

THE ELECTION.

The Result in the State Close.

At the time we put this edition to press the returns from the State are not full enough to determine the result. The vote has been uniformly light, and the Democratic gain, with certain marked exceptions, run nearly through the entire State.

Philadelphia, which gave Geary 5,388 majority, gives Sharswood from 1,500 to 3,000. A loss of 1,000 in Chester is reported,—in other counties we got a cold shoulder, while in others still the returns accord to us handsome gains. From Berks and other Democratic strongholds we have little or nothing.

Whether we can stand these drafts against our majority of 17,178 last year is doubtful. Still we do not feel like surrendering the State. Our friends in Philadelphia are hopeful.

Allegheny county has done well. William's majority will be close in the neighborhood of 6,500—a loss of about 1,200.—Pittsburgh Commercial.

☞ The exhibition of State and county Fairs are, doubtless, exerting a wholesome influence upon the manufacturing and agricultural interest of the country. The have a tendency to encourage progress, develop enterprize in every department, and stimulate those who are accustomed to follow the beaten track of their fathers, by showing easier methods for accomplishing the same ends. These fairs are a sort of annual reunion, for the purpose of comparing notes as to the progress made in art, mechanish, horticulture agriculture—what new labor saving machines have been invented; what improvements have been made on old implements; what has been the success attending important experiments affecting the cultivation of the soil and the raising of stock; in a word, what has been done in the previous year to advance the great industrial interests of the State and nation. These are some of the objects sought to be gained by agricultural exhibitions, and in so far as they are held with these purposes in view, they ought to be encouraged and supported.

☞ Those of the Republicans who would not see the hand-writing upon the wall, now see it. The returns of elections are stubborn facts.

☞ Juniata county is reported to have 550 Democratic majority.

Jeff. Davis' Trial.

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 2.—Though the Circuit Court is in session here, and many cases of vast importance are to be tried, and though political matters involving the gravest interests of the State are daily transpiring, still the anxious and all-pervading topic of the day is the Davis trial.

This is discussed with an eagerness and a favor that plainly indicate the feeling and sentiment here in relation to the great national trial, than which that of Booth, the national assassin, and the other conspirators, including John H. Surratt, sinks into comparative insignificance. The speculations and probable results indulged in would be too tedious to relate; and as they are no more nor less than the anxieties, hopes, and fears of a misguided and unfortunately misled people, would be scarcely worth perusal by your readers.

The main points, however, may be of interest. Many are foolish enough to suppose that Davis will never be brought to trial; others indulge the expectation of his release by special pardon from the President, while numbers think the Rebel chief never intended to place himself at the bar of injured and insulted justice to answer the important national charges that will be brought against him. Another class there is that say Jeff. Davis is safe in Canada under the protecting folds of the British flag, as are Mason, Benjamin, and a host of other Rebels whose lives are forfeited by their treason.

This class, who can be called Union men of the order of Botts and others who were neutral during the war, rather think the Rebel chief will slip his straw bail and leave his volunteer bondsmen to foot the bill of his recognizance to Uncle Sam. Indeed, some go so far as to assert that arrangements have been already made and contracts entered into to place Jeff. beyond the reach of loyal hands who may bring him to justice, or aspiring volunteer friends who might possibly in a strait, shield him from the rigorous demands of an indignant people.

These are all however, mere speculations, according to the feelings, passions or prejudices of the parties expressing them, and have no other foundation whatever. The question, as I telegraphed you, of his trial, has been definitely settled, and in this way at least, the nation will be satisfied. Whether this trial will be a farce, or whether it will be merely a renewal of the straw bail, or even whether the arch-traitor will be convicted and sentenced as his crimes demand, are all questions that time and events must decide.

One thing is settled and certain, that Davis will arrive in this city, the former seat of his temporary government on Nov. 1; he will take the identical rooms at the Spottswood Hotel previously occupied by him, Nos 121 and 122—the same afterwards occupied by General Grant and subsequently by no less a personage than Andrew Johnson, with Wm. H Seward, which is quite a remarkable coincidence, both being Presidents under remarkable and peculiar circumstances.

The next question that suggests itself is, will the trial take place? This must be decided by Chief Justic Chase, who will also probably be a guest of the Spottswood, for he has expressed his intention of presiding at the national trial. Now the fall term of the November Court commences here on the 1st. The Chief Justice will be here; he will open the Court; Davis will be present; the case will be called; counsel for defence will demand trial. the Government, under instructions, will plead not ready; counsel will steadily plead for trial, and unless the Chief Justice rules differently, a nolle prosequi will be entered and obtained, or the final discharge of the national prisoner will be effected.

This ends the speculation on this grave and national subject, and, the whole resolves itself simply into the question:—Has Chase the moral courage to try Davis, or will he endeavor to make capital for the next Presidency by releasing the national prisoner on his straw bail, or effectually discharge him on the nolle prosequi that will be entered by his counsel? Here rests the whole question of the great Davis trial, which the nation at large demands to be answered by the presiding Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States.

In the meantime the officers of the United States Circuit Court are arranging the preliminaries for the trial of Jeff. Davis on the 1st of November. —N. Y. Herald.

BASE BALL IN THE FAMILY.—An exchange tells of a man who became so infatuated with the game of base ball that he insisted onrunning the "home" machine on the base ball system: "His children, being quite numerous, are divided into "nines." At the table they are assigned their respective positions and the servant ordered to take "first base." His wife, whose word "none dare dispute," is styled the "Umpire," and himself the "batsman," his duty being to flog the children. When the youngest child cries he designates this a "foul bawl," and orders the servant to stop it. A few days since this gentleman returned home and found dinner not ready and the servant leisurely reading a ten cent novel, whereupon he instantly ordered her to put a "short stop" to such proceedings. Here the "Umpire" put in, and the result was a fuss in the family, and a practical illustration of the fact that base ball is a game that don't work well in the family circle."

It is reported that in a recent conversation with Lucy Stone, Mr. Chase said: "Be free to say from me that I think there will no end to the good that will come by woman's suffrage, on the elected, on elections, on government, and on woman herself. I have said this in public and private for many years. I am glad that an effort is making in Kansas to accomplish it, and I shall rejoice when the elective franchise will be as free to women as it is now to men. I think, too, that this will be at no distant day."

☞ An election recently took place in New Orleans in which the newly enfranchised darkies had all the election to themselves, and enjoyed the change hugely by parading the streets in holiday costume and armed with knives, revolvers, and heavy bludgeons. Who says, after this, that the darkey should not vote?

A GENUINE GHOST STORY.—The Monongahela Republican says: "Not very long ago, the young and beautiful wife of one of our citizens was called to her final account, leaving her husband disconsolate, sad, bereft. She was buried in the adjacent cemetery, and the husband returned to his desolate home—but not to forget the loved one. She was present with him by day in spirit and in his dreams at night. One peculiarity of his dreams, and one that haunted him, being repeated night after night, was this, that the spirit of his wife came to his bedside and told him that the undertaker had not removed from her face the square piece of muslin or napkin which had been used to cover her face after death, but had screwed down her coffin lid with it upon her that she could not breathe in her grave, but was unrest on account of the napkin. He tried to drive the dream away, but it bided with him by night and troubled him by day. He sought the consolations of religion; his pastor prayed with him and assured him that it was wicked to indulge such morbid fancy. It was the subject of his own petition before the Throne of Grace, but still the spirit came and told anew the story of her suffocation. In despair he sought the undertaker, Mr. Dickey, who told him that the napkin had not been removed, but urged him to forget the circumstance, as it could not be any possible annoyance, to inanimate clay. While the gentleman frankly acknowledged this, he could not avoid the apparition, and continual stress upon his mind began to tell upon his health. At length he determined to have the body disinterred and visited the undertaker for that purpose. Here he was met with the same advice and pursuasion, and convinced once more of his folly, the haunted man returned to his home. That night, more vivid than ever, more terribly real than before, she came to his bedside, and upbraided him for his want of affection, and would not leave him until he promised to remove the cause of all her suffering. The next night, with a friend, he repaired to the Sexton, who was prevailed upon to accompany them, and there, by the light of the cold, round moon, the body was lifted from its narrow bed, the coffin lid unscrewed, and the napkin removed from the face of the corpse. That night she came to his bedside once more, but for the last time. Thanking him for his kindness, she pressed her cold lips to his cheek, and came again no more. Reader, this is a true story; can you explain the myteries of Dreams?

Attempt to Seize Illicit Stills.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 3.—The revenue inspectors made a raid on the unlicensed whisky stills in the northern part of the city on Saturday last, and were driven off by the people in the vicinity. To-day they made another raid with an increased force, but fared worse than Saturday, having several of their party badly wounded with bricks and pistol shots. They seized several stills and were taking them off in cars, when a large crowd of men and women attacked them, recovered the copper vessels and drove off the officers. Deputy United States Marshal Schuyler received six serious wounds. Thomas Lance, one of the rioters, was shot in the head. The affair occurred near Port Richmond.

JEFF. DAVIS'S TRIAL.—Intelligence from Richmond leaves no doubt Jeff. Davis's trial will commence on November 1st. Counsel on both sides are ready to proceed, and no postponement will be asked by the government. Davis writes that he will be in Richmond in the last week in October.

AN IMPROVEMENT IN LIGHT!
We take pleasure in putting before the public a LAMP for burning fat, lard or tallow, which is superior to any of the kind ever introduced. It differs from all others, as it does not require the fat to be melted before lighting. It heats the fat by a copper pipe, which conducts the heat under the fat and melts it immediately.
Thousands of the lamps have been sold and no complaints have been made. All Lamps warranted to give general satisfaction, or the money refunded.
A rare opportunity is offered to any person or persons that may wish to engage in the business. Huntingdon and Mifflin counties will be sold in townships at reasonable terms to suit purchasers. A sample lamp will be forwarded to any person on receipt of retail price, $1,50, and forwarded at my expense.
Will either sell territory or pay agents by the day or piece. Agents are making from $5 to $15 per day, for they sell very fast. They are what every person needs. All letters will receive prompt attention.

Brief Items.

—Three Bohemians were killed on the railroad near Gallitzin on Friday morning.

—We had the first heavy frost here on Monday morning last. Winter is coming. O-o-g-h!

—Somebody had the prettiest baby at the Fair, but we will not name it, as we don't want to offend the mothers of "darlings."

—Capt. Snell, of the Jackson House, has sold the same to Mr. Wm. Long, of this place, for $3,800. Mr. L. has had experience in keeping hotel.

—They are taking up subscriptions in Chester county for the purchase of a Model Farm in that county for the State Agricultural College.

—Col. John D. O'Connell, formerly of Ebensburg, died last week at New Orleans, of yellow fever. His wife died the same day, of the same disease.

—Several urchins were run over at the fair last week, but escaped unhurt. All the marshals could do would not keep them off the track.

—Mrs. David Peightal, Mrs. John Nightwine and Mrs. Jacob Weaver, will please accept our thanks for handsome presents of fruit and poultry.

—A young man named Mr. Kegg, of Bedford county, was engaged last week in feeding a threshing machine, when, by some means, his arm was drawn into the cogs of the tumbling shaft, and terribly lacerated.

—Rev J. W. Plannett, formerly of Mill Creek, has accepted the pastorship of the Baptist church of this place, and on Sunday last preached his introductory sermons. He will preach regularly, Sunday morning and evening.

—The Methodist Mite Society which kept a table on the Fair ground last week, met with success, having realized over $200 clear. The Catholic stand was also well patronized, and we have no doubt met with the success they anticipated.

—The Lutheran Sunday School will hold a Fair and Festival in the church on Friday evening next. The luxuries of the season will be served, and every body is expected and invited to attend and give aid and comfort to the "inner man."

—Our Minister to Holland writes to the Secretary of State that there is no foundation for the rumor that $75,000,000 has been left in Holland to the descendants of one Hans Graff. The "descendants" in this and other localities are therefore expected to pull down their airy castles.

—Rev. J. M. Akers, of Newport, Perry county, is now under treatment of a doctor in Pittsburg, for a severe injury sustained to the eye, last week, by being struck with a ball, while watching a match at Newport. The injury is of such a nature as to endanger the sight.

—The Tournament came off on Thursday afternoon last, on the Fair grounds. There was an immense crowd present to witness it. Captain J. J. Fee was the victor and chose Miss Lizzie McMurtrie as the Queen. The majority, we think, of those who witnessed the Tournament were highly pleased.

—We have read before of horses undoing the ladies' waterfalls, but we never knew until last week that cows had the same dislike, as was evinced at a country residence not a hundred miles from here. A young lady went to the barn yard to milk the cows, and having on one of those huge uncouth appendages, one of the animals decently turned round and pulled it off, much to the astonishment of the lady, who was surprised to know that even cows have a spite at the ladies' waterfalls.

—The base ball Tournament was one of the attractions of the Fair.—Four clubs contested. The Social and Young America, of this place, played the first game, and the Socials won by a score of 49 to 37. The next game was played between the Social and Alert, of McConnellstown, in which the Social was beaten 8. The next game was played by the Alert and Mountain Star, of Altoona, which resulted in a tie, the score being 58—The Mountain Star not desiring to play another inning, the game was decided in favor of the Alert, which club was awarded the prize.

The Fair.

The County Fair in this place last week was a success. In fruit, vegetables and poultry it was better than the State Fair at Pittsburg. The exhibition could have been better if more of the farmers in the county who have good, if not the best stock, had taken the trouble to encourage the Fair. Although the premiums were large, all can be paid, leaving something to be added to the funds of the treasury.

The political meeting on Friday afternoon, the last day of the Fair, did not seem to disturb it much, as many of the best and most active Republicans refused to give the meeting any attention.

The reports of awarding committees of the Fair will be found in this paper.

We understand that some people, in the county were foolish enough to believe assertions made by small politicians that the Fair was a "copperhead concern," and actually refused to offer anything for exhibition or to encourage the Society by their presence on the ground. Such people we have no doubt will discover that they were hoaxed, and will know who to believe hereafter.

☞ Empress Cloths, Poplins, Alpaca Poplins, Crown goods, (Claflin's importation,) and all fine styles of dress goods kept in first class city retail stores, are now to be found at the fine rooms of Fisher & Sons. 2t.

The Republican Meeting.

The Republican Mass meeting in this place on Friday afternoon last, was a small affair—a failure. And the torchlight in the evening ditto. True, the lights were very beautiful—the music very good—the fire-works sublime—the marshals enthusiastic—but the people were not in line. It didn't use to be so when the Union party had an existence, and the UNION was the battle cry. Those five hundred dollars!—an unprofitable investment.

Accident.

On Monday morning last, about 9 o'clock, Capt. Thomas McCahan and his brother John, whilst driving into Birmingham with their carriage and span of horses, met with a very severe accident. The horses became frightened and ran at full speed down the steep hill from the town, dashing the carriage to pieces and throwing the two brothers to the ground. Captain McCahan was severely cut about the head and otherwise badly injured, and his brother had his shoulder badly injured. Fortunately, however, they were not dangerously injured, and are mending rapidly. This is the second accident of a similar character that has happened these gentlemen in the past few months.—Tyrone Bulletin.

☞ Gros Grain Silks at three dollars have been selling at four dollars per yard. Call at Fisher & Sons'. 2t.

Oporto Grape Culture.

This country is becoming noted for the enterprise of wine growers. New Jersey particularly, where the celebrated Port Grape Wine is made purely from the grape juice. The following letter from an eminent physician who lives in sight of Speer's vineyard, will be of interest to our readers;

PASSAIC, Oct. 20th, 1855.

I hereby certify that Mr. A Speer of this village has a large vineyard of choice grape vines, which are looking very fine. He also purchases a great many grapes, not as yet producing as many himself as is required to keep his stock of wine full. He has the Port Grape, the wine of which is held in high estimation and of which he has a large quantity on hand lying in his cellars, requiring age before he disposes of it. R. A. TERHUNE, M. D.

☞ Fisher & Sons take pleasure in saying that notwithstanding the great decline in values their merchandise sales promise this year to exceed by 30 per cent. the best year they ever had, and are happy to announce that their efforts to shorten profits have been appreciated by the community. 2t.

Fatal Accident.

On Friday, September 27th, William, son of John Hunter, of Bell's Mills, came to his death rather singularly. He had taken a position on the steps of one of the cars of the Mail Train, while stopping at the station, intending to jump off at the road crossing, a short distance above. This he did; but in doing so, he fell, and is supposed to have been hurt severely inwardly or about the head. Shortly after he got up and walked back to the house and told his mother that he felt sick. She requested him to lie down, but he said that he could not, as his head hurt him. Dr. Clark was called in but could not save him. During the night he began to sink away and could not be revived. He died about three o'clock on Saturday morning.—Altoona Tribune.

☞ Fisher & Sons invite all, especially the ladies to inspect their new purchases, now opening. They have the largest as well as the most beautiful stock of goods ever displayed in this place. 2t.

A Brutal Assault.

A negro named John Brown, attacked Miss Elnora Filler, at a point on the path leading from the wire suspension bridge to her mother's residence on the opposite side of Dr. Anderson's meadow, on last Friday night, and mal-treated her in a most brutal and fiendish manner. Miss Filler had left her mother's residence early in the evening to attend the meeting of the Normal Literary Society, but rain fell copiously about seven o'clock, and fearing lest it might keep up to a late hour in the night, she determined to return home as soon as the rain abated. She was accompanied by different parties to the middle of the bridge. The night was very dark, and while crossing the meadow she became cognizant that some one was passing her in the same direction that she was going. In a moment the fiend seized her head with his left arm and clasped her throat with his right hand, preventing an out cry, and hurling her to the earth. She resisted his hellish purposes with all strength; in the midst of the struggle the fiend drew his knife and threatened to cut her throat; fortunately the young lady, in her desperation, succeeded in wrenching it from him, and cutting his hand very severely. At this juncture, while pleading for her life, two young men passed within a few rods of where the outrage was being committed, whom, it is presumed, he overheard, and fled.

Miss Filler's throat was terribly bruised and swollen, her face badly skinned, and her hand cut. Otherwise she escaped uninjured. Brown has not been arrested up to the present writing, though it is not possible that he will escape.—Bedford Inquirer.

The negro ruffian John Brown, who committed an infamous outrage upon Miss Nora Filler, of Bedford, was subsequently arrested. A party of citizens pursued the black scoundrel and captured him on the mountain near Bedford.

Speer's Wines

Are the pure juice of the grape, and are unexcelled by any native vintage. They contain valuable medicinal properties, and are of intrinsic worth to the invalid and the convalescent, strengthening the weak, and restoring the system to tone and vigor. Sickly persons and females should try them.

WANTED.

500 Agents to canvass for a work entitled "Nojoque," written by Hinton R. Helper, author of the "Impending Crisis of the South." The object of the author in this work is to show the great distinction between the white and black races. He denounces negro political and social equality, and says he can no longer act with a party that would willingly destroy the great line of distinction between the white and black races which God himself has established. Every person should secure a copy of this work.

ALSO, 500 Agents wanted to circulate the "Youth's History of the War," the only history from a Democratic standpoint. Those desiring agencies should address
E. W. MILLER, Huntingdon P. O., Pa.,

DIED,

Near Mill Creek, August 30th, ANNIE SPECK, daughter of Abraham and Ellen Speck.

Death has again torn from our midst one of our loved ones, in the bloom of youth. Thus do we all fade as a leaf. But let us submit to the kind will of God, who is too kind to err, and too good to be unkind While her body rests, beneath the clods of the valley, her spirit hath entered that haven of rest, where she shall receive a palm of victory, and Crown of Glory, that fadeth not away. She was a member of the Ev. Lutheran Church; she was loved and esteemed by all who knew her. She leaves a father and mother, brothers and sisters, and a large circle of relatives and friends to mourn her loss. "But our loss is her eternal gain."

Gone, when young and full of promise,
Gone, our loving, brightest one;
Life without thee, oh, how lonely,
Farewell, Sister, precious friend.

For all Diseases Incident to HORSES, CATTLE, and the HUMAN FLESH, Requiring the use of an External Application.

This new Compound, prepared by a practical Chemist having a full knowledge of all the medical virtues of each ingredient that enters into its composition, is warranted to exceed anything of the kind ever yet offered to the Public as an external application for the diseases for which it is recommended. We are satisfied that it will work its own road into the confidence of all who use it, and those who try it once will never be without it, and therefore we rely on experience as the best test of its usefulness. It is pronounced by Farriers, and all who have tried it to be the best application ever used. This Embrocation has been put up for over eight years, and it is only through the increasing demand and urgent request of my friends and the Public that I send it forth as the grand remedial agent for the various diseases to which that noble and useful animal, the horse, is subject.

Many remedies have been offered to the public under different forms, some of these are injurious, others at best of little use, and many wholly improper to answer the purposes for which they are recommended.

A judicious and really useful composition, free from those objections, has therefore long been desired by many gentlemen who have valuable horses, and are unwilling to trust them to the care of designing and pretended Farriers. Their wishes are at length fully gratified, by Dr. Beale being prevailed upon to allow this valuable Embrocation (which has proved so efficacious to the various diseases) to be prepared and brought out to the public.

Address all Orders to Dr. EDMUND BEALE,

SPECIAL NOTICE.

TO THE LADIES.—Do you really intend to cease wearing the beautiful styles now so prevalent, or dress less elegantly, because the rebel Jeff. Davis, was captured in Fashionable Female attire? One moment's calm reflection will surely serve to change your rash resolve. The angels had too much good sense to lay aside their pure chaste robes of white, because they had for a time served to hide the deformities of that Prince of Rebels, the Devil. Can you err in following the example of Angels? Then having made up your minds that you will continue to dress tastefully regardless of rebel acts, do not forget to call at the store of the subscribers, who will be happy at all times to furnish you with such articles of dress as you may desire. Urge your fathers, husbands, brothers, neighbors and children to visit the same store. They can here be suited in good articles of Boots, Shoes, Clothing Material, Hats, Caps, Queensware and a general assortment of Groceries, on as reasonable terms as at any House in town. Store on South-east corner of the Diamond, Huntingdon, Pa.

PROF. H. M'ENTYRE'S GREAT REMEDY,

THE

INDIAN COMPOUND

Internal and External Medicine,

WILL CURE:

☞ Diarrhœa, Bloody Flux in one day,
☞ Headache and Earache in three minutes.
☞ Toothache in one minute.
☞ Neuralgia in five minutes,
☞ Sprains in twenty minutes,
☞ Sore Throat in ten minutes,
☞ Cholic and Cramp in five minutes,
☞ Rheumatism in one day,
☞ Pain in the Back or Side in ten minutes,
☞ Bad Coughs or Colds in one day,
☞ Fever and Ague in one day,
☞ Cures Deafness, Asthma, Piles,
☞ Bronchitis Affections, Dyspepsia,
☞ Inflammation of the Kidneys, Erysipelas,
☞ Liver Complaint and Palpitation of the Heart.

Keep it in your Families—Sickness comes when least expected.

I propose to check, and effectually dissipate more ache and pain, and to accomplish more perfect equilibrium of all the circulating fluids in the human system, than can be effected by any other, or all other methods of medical aid in the same space of time.

THIS POPULAR REMEDY is fast coming into use, for the fact that I cure, free of charge, all these complaints whenever there is an opportunity to do so. As soon as it is applied it almost miraculously kills the pain. I do not ask you to buy before you are certain of its efficiency. If you have an ache or pain, it is warranted to do all it purports on the label.

I do not propose to cure every disease—only a class named by my directions. My liniment operates on chemical and electric principles, and is, therefore, appliable, to the cure or natural restorative of all organic derangement arising from an improper circulation of the nerve vital fluids.

Prof. J. H. McEntyre's INDIAN COMPOUND acts directly on the absorbents, reducing glandular and other swellings in incredible short time, without any possible danger from its use under any possible circumstances.

This is an internal and external medicine—composed of roots, herbs and barks, such as our forefathers used.—There is a bountiful supply on earth to cure all complaints if we only know what they were.

This has been a great study with the Medical Faculty for many years, to find out the kinds best adapted to the above complaints—how to put them together, and what proportions to use.

SPEAR'S PATENT

Fruit Preserving Solution,

FOR THE PRESERVATION OF ALL KINDS OF

FRUITS, VEGETABLES, JELLIES, WINES, CIDER, &c.

Without Sugar, and without Expensive Sealing or Air-tight Jars.

One Bottle will Preserve 128 Pounds of Fruit, or 48 Gallons of Wine or Cider.

CHEAP, HEALTHFUL AND EFFECTUAL.

This Solution, when properly used, effectually prevents fermentation or decay of Fruits, and, by the most simple and inexpensive process, every variety may be kept in a fresh and perfectly wholesome condition the year round. It is no new and uncertain experiment, but has been in practical use for the past eight years, yet has been, for the most part, kept from the public for the purpose of ascertaining the result of a series of experiments, all of which have proved the validity of all that is now confidently claimed for it.

Fruits preserved by this Solution are as good as the best "canned" fruits, while the use of the solution avoids the trouble of sealing, costly jars or cans, keeping from the air and light, frequent examinations, and the many other troubles and annoyances well known to every housewife.

Fresh native fruits the year round have become almost a household necessity, both on account of their healthfulness and as a luxury; and by the use of this solution this great luxury is within the reach of every family, rich or poor, in the land, as all kinds of fruit may be preserved during pleasure at less than one-half the expense of any other method.

The solution is perfectly free from objection on the score of health. Professor Bache, under date "U. S. Naval Laboratory, New York, September 14, 1864," says: "By direction of the Chief of the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery, I have examined your Preserving Solution, and meats and fruits preserved by it. I have a high opinion of its value, and believe it can be used in the preservation of those articles in a fresh state for the army and navy very advantageously. The Solution is perfectly free from objection on the score of healthfulness."

Other certificates from distinguished chemists, confirming the above, can be seen and had where the solution is sold. It is claimed:

1. That Spear's Solution preserves the flavor of all kinds of native fruits more perfectly and durably than can be done in any other way, and at much less trouble and expense;

2. That the use of the Solution renders it unnecessary to use air tight or expensive jars or cans, and also avoids the inconvenience of hermetically sealing and keeping from the air, heat, light, etc.;

3. That the use of the Solution admits of the keeping of the fruit in vessels of any size, even in kegs or barrels if desirable;

4. That the use of the Solution allows the shipment of the fruit by salt or fresh water, in the hottest weather, without danger of loss or injury;

5. That it is invaluable in the preserving of Tomato, Peach, Pear, Apple, Quince and other Sauces, Wines and Cider; also for all kinds of Spiced Fruits; that these alone recommend it to every family, and to use it once will guarantee their approval.

THE CHEAPEST AND BEST ARTICLE OUT.

A PERFECT TIME-PIECE FOR ONE DOLLAR.

Let every Housekeeper, Farmer, Mechanic, and Traveler buy our or Perpetual Portable Sun-Dial.

Warranted to keep True Time for every Day of the Year.

This valuable instrument, which is warranted by us to give the true time of day throughout the year, is constructed on strictly scientific principles, being based on astronomical tables and calculations, and affording the truest measure of time which human ingenuity and skill can devise, exceeding in accuracy and reliability the most perfect chronometers, whilst the low price at which we offer it to the public places it within the reach of all. Its portability makes it convenient for travelers, and to every farmer or householder it must prove invaluable to regulate their clocks and watches by the most infallible test recognized by science.

The mode of using the "Solar Watch" is the simplest that can be devised. After screwing the Style or Gnomon in its place in the moveable brass head and setting it directly over the straight line corresponding to the date, or that nearest to it on the cylinder, the instrument is placed upright in the sunshine in such a position as will throw the shadow of the Style directly upon the line under it. After placing the plumb-line, by means of its brass attachment, at a right angle with and to the left of the Style, in order to set the cylinder perfectly level, the point where the extremity of the shadow falls, and its distance from any of the wavy or cross lines exhibiting the morning and corresponding afternoon hours, will indicate the true time of day.

The whole apparatus, consisting of a Cylinder and Diagram, moveable Brass Head, Style, Plumb line, and Brass attachment for the same, neatly put up in compact boxes, is sold by us at the incredibly low price of ONE DOLLAR.
